News Roundup

DRUG EDUCATION PROGRAM: A program designed to educate the parents and community of Seaside to recognize and identify dangerous drugs and their symptoms will be launched with a home to home visitation program by the Community Crime Abatement Committee, is beginning during the month of October.

The committee is formed of concerned citizens of the Seaside Community which became aroused 9hen it was revealed the high number of drug addicts existing in their community. Addiction ranges in children from age 11 upward, it was attested to by Lee Tolar, Young Adults For Action, who has spearheaded a drive, along with Harambe Medical Clinic to combat drug addiction in the Seaside community. The regular meeting of the Community Crime Abatement Committee will be held at The Fireside Hof Brau, 1996
Fremont Blvd., Saturday, October 6, at 12 noon. It is open to the public.

CONGRESSMAN BURT L. TALCOTT voted to end discriminatory interstate taxes on California wines. "Various state taxes on California wines are unfair and harmful to trade and must be eliminated," Talcott said. "Several states impose a higher excise tax on wine produced outside their state than on wine produced within their state. Also, several states impose higher license fees on establishments which produce wine from products grown outside their state than on establishments which produce wine from products within their state. The consumption of wine has increased from 168 million gallons in 1962 to 350 million gallons in 1972. Today, because of these trade barriers consumers of our California wines in other states are limited in their freedom of choice and must pay more. This is patently unfair, as well as economically unwise, and I favor passage of H.R. 2096, to prohibit these discriminatory taxes in other states."

LOCAL COMMUNITY MEMBERS WILL HAVE AN opportunity to have a say in what social science educators should include in their programs when a committee selected for that purpose conducts a hearing Thursday September 20 at North Salinas High School Government Complex, room 305, 55 Kip Drive, Salinas. Rules and regulations governing the procedures of the hearing are available at the Monterey County Office of Education, 132 West Market, Salinas. For Additional Information call 424-0655.

The remainder of the meeting will be devoted to consideration of continued items and regular permits and standard agenda items.

THE MONTEREY COUNTY COMMUNITY SERVICES COMMISSION will hold their regular meeting tonight, Wednesday, September 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Bank of America, 405 Main St., Salinas. Among the committees to be appointed will be Affirmative Action Plan, By-Laws, Nominating, Personnel, Program and Budget, and Training. Other business to be discussed includes Commission Orientation and Training Session; Poverty Guidelines; Youth Program Ideas; Nutrition proposal, correspondence; Executive Director's report on Marina Outreach office, Soledad revenue sharing, other revenue sharing, Harambe status, Senior Citizens program status, Homemaker aide proposal, and will set the time for the next meeting. THE SUNSET COMMUNITY AND CULTURAL CENTER, CARMEL, will show movies in Room 20, during the noontime, beginning Tuesday, October 2 and continuing every Tuesday at noon. The thought is that many who work in the business district and carry their lunches would like a short interlude during the lunch hour to enjoy films of sports, adventure, travel, and arts while eating.

CURRENTLY SHOWING THEIR ARTISTIC TALENTS AT Seaside City Hall Gallery during the month of September are Mrs. Bebe Greenberg and Mrs. Barbara Greengerg, no relation, of Carmel. Both women are members of the Women's Art Group known as "Alternative Directions."

29 Lot Housing Subdivisions Are Approved

The Seaside Planning Commission approved the developing of two subdivision involving 29 lots despite the protests of citizens that "a serious traffic problem on Hilby Avenue will be aggrevated."

The actions were protested by John P. Yarnell who resides on Hilby Avenue, who was concerned jbout Hilby becoming a "raceway" with speedsters, and before any more subdivisions are approved the city should conduct a traffic survey to find out what the people on this street are suffering from.

Approved were the tentative maps for a 20-lot subdivision by the Arbor Development Company of Palo Alto and a nine-lot development by Adeline Di Lorenzo, both on the south side of the 1600 block of Hilby.

The nine-lots will be an addition to the nine-lot Richard subdivision, which is already under construction in the area. Nearby, Mrs. Di Lorenzo is building the eight-lot Vincent subdivision and is preparing to build the eight-lot William subdivison.

Mrs. Di Lorenzo invited the commission to be her guest for lunch on the property for an on-site inspection. The commission failed to respond.

In other action:

The commission approved a permit to allow on-site sale of beer at a restaurant operated by Otis Stevenson at 1584 Del Monte Blvd.

A variance to allow a reduction from 10 feet to eight feet in the rear yard setback and a reduction from 15 to 11 in required parking spaces

Today's Army NEWS By SSG R. Cardwell ARMY RECRUITER

Hi everyone.

When Gay Talese's book - "The Kingdom and The Glory"- landed on the New York Times' best seller list, the profession of journalism took a giant leap forward. Suddenly people were reading about journalists. Reading what journalists thought about their assignments, their bosses, their newspaper - in this case The New York Times - and their profession.

Among the people greatly interested in what journalists had to say about their profession were the young men and women in high schools and colleges around the country whose career objectives had been focused on the profession of journalism. Jobs reporting the news for metropolitan newspapers are not easy to come by. Generally, a young reporter must have experience and talent, both of which are difficult to develop without that first job.

The Occupational Outlook Handbook, published bi-annually by the U.S. Department of Labor, reports that there are over 40,000 people in America who earn their living reporting the news. The majority of them are employed by the Nation's 1,760 daily and 9,000 weekly newspapers. Most newspapers are said to consider only applicants with college degrees. Although talented writers having little or no academic training beyond high school sometimes become reporters on city newspapers, most reporters without college training begin - and usually remain - on rural, smalltown or suburban papers.

Professional academic training exists in nearly 200 colleges offering degrees in journalism. The typical kndergraduate journalism curriculum is offered during the junior and senior years of college, and is divided about equally between cultural and professional subjects. Among the professional courses are reporting, copyreading, editing, feature writing, and the history of journalism.

Professional training also exists, according to the Department of Labor, in the Armed Forces. The Department of Defense maintains a Defense Information School at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indianapolis. TODAY'S ARMY is currently training young men and women for careers in journalism at Fort Harrison.

For further details concerning journalism or any other profession, please contact us at 431 Webster St. Monterey, or call 372-4742/372-0553.

Their heroism occurred when Gilliam stopped breathing during course of incoming student orientation of Fourth Brigade at Fort Ord. Both men reacted immediately to emergency; Simpson applied chest pressure resusitation and Guering mouth-to-mouth resusitation.

Talcott Wants North Vietnam To Account For Missing In Action

Congressman Burt L. Talcott said, "Using our MIA's as hostages for blackmail must cease.

"The war has been terminated but our MIA's have neither been returned nor accounted for. The North Vietnamese violate their own written agreements and all laws of humanism refusing to provide information concerning our MIA's."

To compell compliance, Mr. Talcott called upon the United States Government to cease forthwith all consideration of aid, trade, diplomatic recognition, or any other form of communication, travel, or accomodation with the Democratic Republic of North Vietnam, or the Viet Cong, until these parties live up to the agreements they signed regarding American men missing in action.

According to Congressman Talcott, the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong have failed to live up to agreements and statements which call for them to facilitate the location and care of graves of the dead; to exhume,and repatriate the remains; as well as to provide information concerning those still considered missing in action.

Mr. Talcott said, "I have always contended that our POW's were held as 'hostages' and now they are using the identical tactics with those men still missing in action and not accounted for. This despicable behavior is contrary to all humane precepts as formally promulgated in the Geneva Convention and United Nations protocals and it should be universally condemed. Parents, wives, and children suffer a continuing agony of ignorance concerning the fate of these men.

"No military purpose is served by this diabolical refusal to account for our missing.

NEW LIBRARY STATUS

by Joe Dolan

Last week--On California's Admission Day--Seaside's City Manager and Mr. Cleve Williams, our Parks and Recreation Director, traveled to Oakland to keep an appointment with Mr. Hugh Taylor, administrator of the Western Region of the Economic Development Administration. The purpose of the visit was to pick up the new grant application forms which are to be submitted to EDA requesting a $300,000 Federal Grant to enable the City to erect the new library.

At this time last year, Seaside applied for $300,000 grant which was subsequently disapproved because the final plans for the proposed library were not prepared. However, this year we will have completed plans prepared because the City Council, in July, authorized the City Manager to have the architectural firm of Keeble and Rhoda complete the final library plans. When completed, these plans will cost the taxpayer approximately $20,000. The plans are specifically for the site between the City Hall and the Department of Motor Vehicles building.

Once the new library building is erected on this location, the City of Seaside will own the building and land it is situated on free and clear. By previous coordination and commitments from the County of Monterey, the new library is to be fully equipped and staffed by Monterey County. And in fact it will be a County Library to serve the residents of Seaside, San City and Del Rey Oaks.

The County will provide some 42,000 plus volumes and in addition will provide the library staff and pay their salaries. The new library plans specify construction of a 10,000 square foot facility on the two acres of City owned land and will replace the present 1,500 square foot county branch library serving Seaside.

C of C Progress Report

by Verlaine Crawford

The next meeting of the Board of Directors is Thursday, Sept. 20, at 8 a.m. at the Chamber of Commerce Office. Everyone is invited to come. At that meeting a list of members nominated to be on the Board of Directors will be presented. Nominations will then be placed on a ballot to elect 8 new Board members.

Government Affairs Committee - Dick Penrose reported that his committee recommends that the Chamber write the City to begin publishing the Agenda for City Council meetings and all other public meetings. "So that all the citizens of Seaside will understand what the City is going to do and to better inform the populace."

Carter Stanley was appointed to Chair the Government Affairs Committee, and Dick Penrose will head the "Seaside Foundation" study.

During the meeting Jim Wester suggested that perhaps we should study a plan to spread the sales tax dollars more evenly among the cities of the Peninsula. Through such a regional sales tax program, the cities would not have to fight so hard to get new businesses. An overall plan for development of the peninsula could be utilized without having to fight other cities for tax dollars.

Business Development Committee reported that they will look into the regional tax plan. Jim Wester, Chairman of the committee, said that this committee will also be studying parking proposals by the city and Beautification of Businesses in Seaside.

Military Affairs Committee, headed by Ray Stepniak and Sgt. Bill Brown, has made great progress towards Military - Community Week and the Olde-Fashioned Picnic to be held at the Monterey County Fairgrounds on Sunday, October 7, from 12 noon to 6 p.m. Ray said that this is one of the few times that all the Chambers of Commerce of the Peninsula have worked together on a project.

Members of the Chambers will be calling on local businesses to sell tickets for this fun event. (The kick-off will be a V.I.P. softball game between the Commanders of the local military installations jnd the Mayors, Council Members and Presidents of the Chambers of Commerce.

New Board Member Walter Norwick, owner of Walter's Fashions, was appointed by Don Butts to replace the late Fred Sandman on the Board of Directors. Walter has been an active participant at the Chamber during the past year.

Nominating Committee for new Board Members was appointed by President Don Butts. They are Chairman Jim Wester, Cecil Bindel, Dick Penrose, Carl Oliver and Bill Brown (Larry Nelson replaced Bill, since he was in the hospital.)

WHAT'S HAPPENING TO YOUR GAS AND ELECTRIC BILL?

You won't like it. We don't like it. But it's happening. Your monthly utility bill is going to get bigger and bigger.

Here's a look at the reasons why.

HIGHER FUEL COSTS.
Most of our steam-electric power plants are fueled by natural gas or oil. Unfortunately the cost of both fuels has gone up and will go up higher.

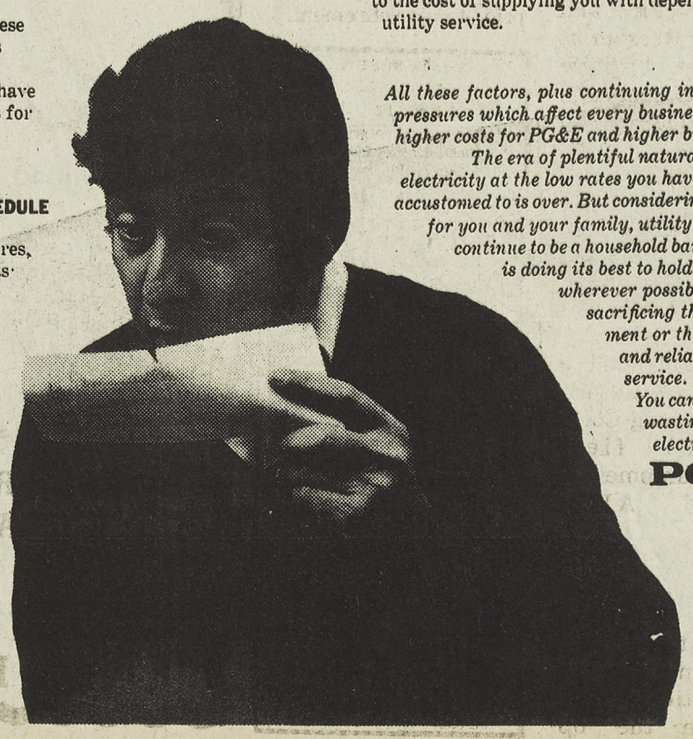
The search for new gas supplies, including exploration in Canada and the Alaskan north slope, is expensive. Such gas will cost more initially, and bringing it from greater distances will add to its price. Alternatives such as gas made from oil or coal, and imported liquefied natural gas could cost even more.

Besides natural gas, low-sulfur oil is the only acceptable fossil fuel for these steam-electric power plants under present air pollution control standards. And we have to pay high premium prices for low-sulfur oil.

CONSTRUCTION SCHEDULE DELAYS.
Regulatory procedures, requiring 30 or more permits from public agencies, are taking longer and longer. And new laws and regulations have established more complicated procedures for plant siting and construction. All these slow down construction schedules, and inflation alone is adding substantially to costs during these periods of delay.

ENVIRONMENTAL COSTS.
Communities have become a lot more attractive since we started putting power lines underground. But it costs money. So does building and landscaping esthetically pleasing plants, minimizing stack emissions and cooling water discharged from power plants. In fact, during the 1973-1976 period PG&E's environmental expenditures will exceed $300 million.

HIGHER INTEREST RATES.
Utilities are "capital intensive" industries. That means, when we build new facilities we have to raise vast sums of capital ($450 million this year). And interest rates have risen from about 4½% in 1965 to about 8% today. Interest alone adds millions to the cost of supplying you with dependable utility service.



All these factors, plus continuing inflationary pressures which affect every business, result in higher costs for PG&E and higher bills for you.

The era of plentiful natural gas and electricity at the low rates you have become accustomed to is over. But considering all it does for you and your family, utility service will continue to be a household bargain. PG&E is doing its best to hold down costs wherever possible, without sacrificing the environment or the quality and reliability of your service.

You can help—by not wasting gas or electricity.

School Enrollment Nears Expectation

With more than one week of school completed, enrollment in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District is nearing the level projected for this year, Supt. James C. Harrison has announced.

The last official count taken Tuesday, September 11 showed that enrollment was just 300 below what had been projected. On the first day of school, enrollment fell nearly 1,300 students short of expectations.

District officials had estimated that 17,349 students would enroll in schools this year. A comparison report compiled on Tuesday showed that actual enrollment the first day was 16,099. By the third day, the number had grown to 16,779 and by Tuesday there were 17,025 students enrolled.

Harrison said he expects enrollment to rise throughout the remainder of this month.

"It will approach our projection, but fall a bit short," he said.

The superintendent said cutbacks in personnel at Fort Ord appear to be the major reason for the large drop in enrollment this year.

Forecasting enrollment accurately is vital to the schools, because budgets are based on the amount of revenue school districts expect to receive for each child in attendance. In addition, teachers are hired on the basis of projected enrollments, and if a "surplus" of teachers is left, the district must absorb salary costs.

To date, Harrison said the district is in the process of transferring 11 teachers to adjust to highs and lows in enrollments. Nine of the teachers are at the elementary level, and two teach in junior high school. Harrison said late enrollments might create need for more transfers, but stated the moes now under way represent the bulk of the transfers that will be necessary

EPA Pesticide Rules Not Strong Enough, Says Toxologist

The state's Department of Food and Agriculture has served notice on the Environmental Protection Agency that it will insist on the enforcement of the higher agricultural worker protection standards in existence in California over the weaker pesticide protection proposals offered by the EPA.

Dr. Keith Maddy, staff toxicologist for the department, told a five-member EPA hearing board that "We have a major portion of the population of employed farm workers in this country, and we recognize our responsibility for providing a safe working environment for them. We also have the best program of all of the states and we not only intend to keep it that way, but to improve it."

Maddy said studies in cooperation with the State Department of Health at the direction of the California Legislature have already indicated the area that needs improvement is the area of mixing and application of organophosphate pesticides. He urged the EPA to give its "urgent attention" to this area.

"Workers whose job involves this activity are currently contributing the bulk of our serious pesticide-associated worker illnesses," he said.

Maddy said California's considerable experience with organophosphate pesticides will be offered to the EPA in a few weeks. "In California, we use about one-fifth of the agricultural chemicals applied in the nation and about one-tenth of those used in the world."

"We believe that our program is a most comprehensive pesticide regulatory program and that it is well-designed to protect agricultural workers and others who may be exposed to pesticides. It is also designed to protect our entire environment, as well, from the improper use of pesticides," he said. "We do not want it weakened. Our program is under continuous development to meet our legal and public responsibilities," he added and asked any federal agency to examine the program in depth as to its adequacy in meeting standards.

Maddy recommended that any program EPA outlines should:

1. Be flexible to meet individual states' needs;

2. Allow for approval of states' programs that meet Federal goals,

3. Involve cooperative studies to identify specific safety problems,

4. Involve cooperative programs in providing sound solutions, and

5. Avoid any restrictions where there is not documentation that problems exist.

Dancer Added To Concerts

"Baby" Lawrence, the world's greatest tap dance, will be a new, added attraction at the Paul Masson "Vintage Sounds" concerts at the Paul Masson Mountain Vineyard in Saratoga. He will appear on the weekend of September 29th and 30th with Sonny Terry and Brownie McGhee. All performances begin at 2:30 p.m.

The venerable dancer tapped his way to a standing ovation earlier this month in Jon Hendricks' revue, "Evolution of the Blues," the first of the jazz and folk music concerts sponsored by Paul Masson to benefit S.C.A.R.E., Sickle Cell Anemia Research & Education, Inc.

Sharing the spotlight on the concert series will be the San Francisco Strutters; Tewie & Simon & Friend, country musicians; and guitarist Robbie Basho for the weekends of the 22nd through 30th. Ramblin' Jack Elliott stars on the 22nd and 23rd.

Tickets, $3.75, are available at Bay Area Ticketron outlets.
